So the House refused to assent to the said amendment.

Mr. Handy of Worcester then moved further to amend the said bill by adding at the end of the fourth section the following:

"Provided, it shall be sanctioned by a majority of the voters in each county at the coming election."

Which was read.

On the question being put,

Will the House assent to the said amendment?

On motion of Mr. Rider,

The yeas and nays were required and appeared as follows:
